

Details Pluralism Working Paper no 2

Title	The Hidden Dimension of the Secular Rethinking Humanism in an age of Religious Revitalism
Author	Henk Manschot and Caroline Suransky
Keywords	Secularism, Humanism, Modernity
Category in Working Paper series	A – academic research paper
Comments can be sent to	Henk Manschot – h.manschot@uvh.nl Caroline Suransky – c.suransky@uvh.nl  And to the editors of the Pluralism Working Paper series – pluralismworkingpapers@uvh.nl
	Prof. Henk Manschot is Director of the Kosmopolis Institute of the University for Humanistics in The Netherlands and the coordinator of the International Consultation Network withing the Promoting Pluralism Knowledge Programme. His own research focuses on human and sustainable development and cultural knowledges.
	Dr. Caroline Suransky is Deputy Director of the Kosmopolis Institute, co-chair of the Promoting Pluralism Knowledge Programme and member of its daily management committee. She is responsible for the PhD project within the Knowledge Programme and also one of the key actors organizing and conducting the International Summer School on Human Development and Human Rights that takes place annually. Her own research focuses on identity politics and education & training.
Website	www.uvh.nl